Viewing and Downloading Documents

Adobe's Acrobat Reader is needed to read and print reports, briefings, fiscal impact reviews, and other documents on this site. The Reader is FREE and can be downloaded by clicking the Acrobat Reader icon on the Home page or any Publications page. To VIEW a JLARC document on this Web site in Acrobat Reader, click the Report, Briefing, or JLARC Review link for the item with the left mouse button. To DOWNLOAD the document, right click the link and select Save Target As (or Save Link As) from the menu. When saving a document, be sure to note where you are saving the file on your computer and retain the filename extension used for the file on this site.

Searching the JLARC Site

To search the JLARC site using keywords, type the keywords in the edit box above the menu bar and then click the Search button. Click the Tips button for information on how to compose more complex search terms. A more comprehensive discussion of the query language used for this site can be found in the Query Language reference available as a link from the Tips page. Note that keywords are not searched within Acrobat documents, but keyword references to Acrobat documents are searched. Therefore, Acrobat documents will not be returned directly in a search, but will be available as links from pages returned in the search. For example, summaries and bibliography pages returned in a search will have a Report link to the Acrobat report document.
